Performance range.

As you move the lever, the integral low-pressure setting switches automatically from a jet to a filtered stream.

When the lever is pressed down completely, it is in the compressed jet position.

Top models

Exquisite design, stylishly applied

The graceful elegance of the top-operated models leaves nothing to be desired.

The angled water jet complements the geometry of the minimalist design – and breathes new life into the endless play of the water.

Lever action.

The dainty operating lever is made of ultra-strong hardened stainless steel and will carry on working perfectly for years to come.

Attention to detail

Swiss quality, accurately finished

The harmony of the design is expressed in the precision of the workmanship. It is the small but important differences that ensure that KWC ONO not only looks great but is technically great too.

Help with the cleaning.

With KWC JETCLEAN technology, limescale doesn't have a chance. The filter material is so soft that the holes open automatically when the water flows.

Where the water is very hard, TURN AND CLEAN can help: open the cover, clean the filter and close it again. All done!

Going places

Made of pure stainless steel, the stylish pull-out spray swivels to any side and extends up 70 cm.

As you like it

A soft, bubbling flow turns into swishing jets at the simple press of a button.

Pulling power

Pioneering ideas, timelessly interpreted

Easy to operate and hard to fault: at first sight the pull-down aerator is invisible, but it means you can have complete freedom of movement whenever you need it.

Leadership style.

Ergonomics and elegance are the hallmarks of the pull-down aerator in the side-operated lever mixer. Seamlessly integrated in the spout, it can be pulled down in a flash so you can move the spray about as much as you like.
